Delinquencies Are Discussed.

Prior to the election of the officers there was a lengthy discussion of the delinquencies of the members of the association. During the fight against the State of Idaho, when the effort was made to exclude Utah sheep from the Idaho ranges, and later, when the two-mile-limital wof that State was promulgated, the association was put to a great deal of expense. A great portion of this expense has not yet been paid, and at vesterday's meeting it developed that Prosident Jesse M. Smith, who has served the association for a great many years, had been serving without pay. Not alone that, but for periods he had devoted his entire attention to the interests of the association, had personally resisted the afficers of Idaho in their efforts to drive the Utah sheep into Utah, and for this mad submitted to arrest and had paid a fine of $300, which has never been returned by the association.

The financial statement showed that the association has something over $1600 in the treasury, and that the claims of Brown & Henderson, James H. Moyle and Lindsay Rogers, for legal services and court expenses, were about $400. President Jesse M. Smith announced that he had worked too long for the association to put up with delinquencies, and that under no Delinquencies Are Discussed.

High Assessment Required.

The matter of the suit that was planned by Willard Hanson against the delinquent members was discussed by Messrs Moyle and Rogers, and the information was conveyed that the suit would be instituted cales the money was raised. The association requires from its mombers 50 cents per 1900 head of sheep a year, and such assessments as may be needed. That for the year 1904 was 15 per 1900, but the necessity for so high an assessment was to pay the debts acquired as shown above. It was suggested that if the delinquent members, many of whom were present, did not care to pay up without the pressing of the suit, the association would be disbanded. This was considered too much of a blow for the sheep industry, and the organization was continued by the election of officers. High Assessment Required.

At the yards are four carlonds of fit stuff for the local killers, and today there will be a train loaded at Ogden and intermediate points for B. F. Samders.

The sheep movement to the summer ranges begins teday. Hatch fires, will load at the Union Stock yards twenty cars of sheep which will be moved from the winter range up to Rich and Morgan counties.
